The Columbian Cyclopaedia.

25 Volumes. 7,500 Illustrations. 25,000 Pages.

The largest American Cyclopaedia. Pronounces all Titles. Volumes of handy size. The largest and latest Maps.

No other Cyclopaedia even pretends to claim these features, but don't you think they are pretty important? It is the only cyclopaedia that is fit to be put in a public school, because of its simplicity and clearness of style, combination of dictionary with cyclopaedia and because it gives the pronunciation of every word; the latter feature alone is enough to decide in favor of the COLUMBIAN. It is giving more space to the treatment of all American interests than any other cyclopaedia published and devotes more space to United States affairs than ALL THE OTHER CYCLOPAEDIAS COMBINED. We do not depend on a few patched pages to justify our claim that The Columbian furnishes but treats everything fully and intelligently. Notice a few illustrations: The Venezuelan Dispute.—Full history of the trouble, with several maps, biographies, portraits of the Venezuelan Commission, extracts from diplomatic correspondence, etc.

THOROUGHLY AMERICAN

THE LATEST INFORMATION ON ALL SUBJECTS

Foreign Affairs.—Cuban Revolt, Armenian Massacre, South African troubles, and the history of every country brought down to date.

The Southern Colonist.

The New York Tribune prints this sentence as part of an interview with a Kentucky Colonel: "This is the first visit I have made, eh, to your city in many years, and I find wonderful changes. Take your hotels, for instance. Why, if they keep on increasing their height, by g-d, ah, you will be able to step off the roof into the gates of St. Peter." The queer part about these interviews which the New York papers publish occasionally with Southern Colonists is that the Colonists adopt an entirely different style of speech away from home than when at home. When they get to New York according to the learned press of that city, they talk in almost a foreign jargon. All the Colonists in this part of the country, and they are in considerable number hereabouts, "sir" like it is spelled. A number of old darkeys say "sah" and a few nondescript actors who have never been in the South in their lives, or if they have did not profit by their observation, strut about the metropolitan stage howling "sah" and rippling out "by gad." It is presumably from these exponents of the drama of to-day that the New York press receives its ideas of Southern life.—American.

Notice to Correct Error in Conveyance.

Whereas on March 27, 1888, by deed which is registered in Book R, pp. 124, 125, in Registry of deeds at Jasper, Marion County, David L. Milton conveyed to me a tract of land situate in said County of Marion, in the 4th civil district of the same, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a sassafras on the bluff of the Pocket, thence with said bluff to the mouth of the Bark Camp Branch to a stake and pointers, thence north to a stake and pointers conditional corner between John Slatton and Wm. Griffith, thence with a conditional line between said Milton and Griffith to the beginning. And error exists in the above description, which, instead of "thence north to stake and pointers" should read "eastward by Bark Camp Branch as it meanders."

I hereby give notice that at the next session of the Circuit Court of Marion County, to be holden at Jasper, December, 1897, I shall petition said Court and ask for a hearing to make correction, as provided by Art. 3, Chap. 2, Laws of Tennessee, Milliken & Vertrees Code, Page 501.

JOHN SLATTON.
Whitwell, Nov. 4, 1897.

A Companion For All Ages.

A gentleman who used to read to read the Youth's Companion when a boy, and reads it with the same interest now that he is a middle-aged man, was asked the other day if he had not outgrown the Companion. "I don't believe," said he "that I ever can outgrow it. I find in it not only the cheery, hopeful spirit of youth, but the wisdom and experience of age. I like it just as much as when I was a boy though perhaps in a different way. But I know it is the same Youth's Companion with which I grew up, for my boys and girls like it as well as ever I did. It is a good paper to grow up with."

The Youth's Companion will contain the best thought of the best thinkers of America and Europe during 1898. It will print serial and short stories of absorbing interest, and true tales of adventure. The various departments of the paper will be a current record of the best work that is being done in the world. Present readers of The Companion who renew their subscriptions, and all new subscribers, will receive free a beautiful illustrated calendar, printed in twelve colors, and embossed in gold. It is the richest and costliest calendar ever sent to Companion subscribers. New subscribers will receive The Companion every week until January, '98, and then for a full year to January, 1899.

An illustrated prospectus of The Companion for 1898 may be had by addressing

One Hundred Dollars.

Lewisburg, Nov. 15.—R. L. Fowler, who lives a few miles south of here, stepped to the front last season as a watermelon grower. He brought his last load to town last Friday. He had a fraction over five acres planted in melons this year, and the following was the result: Melons sold, 2,106; eaten at home, 297; burst, 343; decayed, 184; misplaced, 850; total, 22,610; left in the patch by estimation, 6000; grand total, 28,610. For the melons sold Mr. Fowler reports that he received $576.20. The ground thus yielded over $100 to the acre.
